

Press Release

Professor Graham Weale joins Team Consult

Team Consult has engaged Professor Graham Weale to join its team as Senior Advisor. Prof. Weale has over 40 years of experience in the energy sector. As chief economist of RWE AG he was responsible for the company's long-term forecasts. Before joining RWE Prof. Weale was Director of European Consulting of Global Insight (now Standard & Poors). Prior to that he worked for ExxonMobil and Deloitte Management Consultants.

Since 2015, Prof. Weale has been teaching and researching as Honorary Professor at Ruhr University in Bochum. His focus areas are the decarbonization of the industry, the market design of the electricity sector, hydrogen production and long-term contractual relationships in the energy business.

Prof. Weale supports Team Consult and its team with his great experience in questions relating to the decarbonization of the German industry, the ramp-up of an international hydrogen economy and long-term energy contracts.

About Team Consult

Team Consult G.P.E. GmbH, which is headquartered in Berlin, is an internationally active and networked consultancy for the energy sector, with leading expertise in the German market. Strategic business consultancy focusing on the power, natural gas/LNG and hydrogen sectors, market studies and contract management are at the heart of our service portfolio.